MINISTRY UPDATE

KAWABATA FAMILY

December 18, 2015

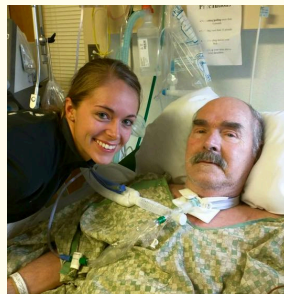

One life at a time. We shared Christ with a ton of students this fall, some in one-time conversations in the middle of campus, and some all the way to a point of a radical transformation. It never gets old! Watching someone "come to life" in Christ is like nothing else in the world. We asked one particular Warrior to share her story...

I'm Kim Snow, a senior at UH majoring in psychology. I'm originally from Oregon and I threw the javelin on the UH track team.

I grew up with lots of exposure to Christianity, church attendance and baptized at 10. I really considered myself to be a Christian. Obviously I wasn't a perfect person, but I thought I was doing pretty well in life. As well as could be expected, so to speak.

But God sure rocked my world this past semester as Pastor Ted had been reaching out to me for a while now. Even though my friend Rachel brought me to many bible studies and even worship services at Destiny, I had never really been born again. I never fully sacrificed for God and surrendered my life 100% to him until this past September.

What a difference!!! To be honest, some things have gotten harder than ever as I grew closer being tested and tried but now I have a LIVING relationship with Christ. There is this new fire in me that I just want to keep feeding. I lost my grandfather just a few weeks after my big decision, and though being thankful it really challenged my faith.

But I'm determined to walk with Christ and allow Him to work His plan in my life. Thank you for praying for me and for the UH campus. There are so many like me that need to find the real Jesus!

Kim was first brought around this past Spring by her buddy Rachel (right).

Kim finished throwing javelin for UH last semester, and will be graduating this coming May.

We've had at least 10 different track girls visit a worship service, bible study or ministry event.

You're a big part of every life that we are touching. We wish we could share each story with you. Our family is off to a nice time of vacation in Japan, our first visit back after a year and a half. We're all so excited to see our friends – especially the kids! Have an awesome Christmas, and a Happy, Happy New year!!!
